Geveke, the characteristics of a business partner

In 1874 a trading company was established in Amsterdam that formed the basis for the current Geveke company. Nowadays Geveke, still based in Amsterdam, consists of a group of companies that provide technical, industrial and capital goods and services. Geveke also focuses on technical maintenance and service, which is reflected in an efficient service organisation. Geveke supplies a wide range of clients within the industry. These are industries where people often work around the clock and where continuity of services and processes is paramount.

An excellent team player

Geveke wants to play a prominent role in the diverse markets in which its companies operate. What's more, Geveke has a strong focus on the day-to-day operations of its customers. The company's ambition is to reach the top and respond to new developments. Flexibility is important to enable any company to keep up in a competitive market. This is possible by combining the ongoing high quality of the product range with the skilled level of the employees, who closely monitor market developments. An up-to-date advice is always the starting point. Geveke often surprises with innovative and sustainable solutions and independent advice on, for example, process optimisation and energy savings. Sustainable, because we are not alone in the world.

Outstanding products and services

To look ahead

Geveke's customers need to rely on the advice, products and services that Geveke offers them. So what is needed are excellent products and services. Geveke focuses not only on the needs of customers, market trends and the competition, but also strongly on the feasibility of the input. What is happening in the field of legislation, or as regards IT, sustainability, the environment, and social and economic factors? That's how wide the scope is.

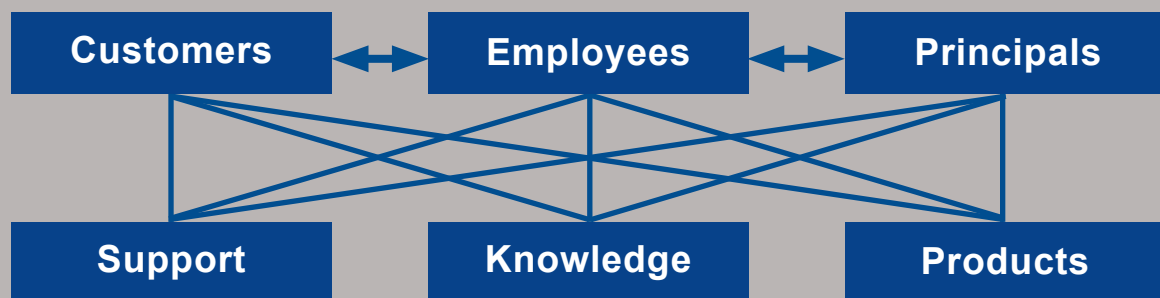

Solid partner

The aim of Geveke is a strong, solid partner with a vision, focused on the bigger picture, building long-term relationships with its customers.

Added value

Although there is already extensive knowledge and skills, Geveke is always working on an even better understanding of knowledge-intensive markets. In addition to understand the customer and their wishes, you have to know what you are doing. In a market with more or less similar products and services, it is important to offer partnership – by providing added value to customers, principals, employees and other stakeholders.

Vision

We keep industry running!

The wide range of products and services is of crucial importance to customers and their production processes or activities. Because, in case of a standstill, the entire production process is often affected. The importance of 'simple' components in a process and the necessity to ensure continuity, is the underlying thought of this vision.

Mission

The partner for industrial companies

Geveke strives to establish a top position in the markets in which it operates. This ambition is based on both the quality of the product range offered, and the expertise of the employees. Geveke delivers innovative and sustainable solutions.

Strategy

Geveke aims to realize its mission by offering added value to customers, principals and employees, based on a long-term partnership.

The real capital

The employees

Business on a human scale.

Simply because employees are the indispensable link between customers, principals, and colleagues. The Geveke companies are characterised by an open, approachable culture. This corporate culture is a reflection of the standards that Geveke values and therefore has formulated. The Geveke employees are committed to these core values, which form the basis for everything Geveke does.

Employees benefit from excellent terms of employment and they have extensive training opportunities. There is a good team atmosphere, openness and a scope for personal initiative. Approx. 185 people are employed by the Geveke group. It would not be exaggerating to say that every one of these is a committed and experienced, well-trained employee.

Sustainability & corporate social responsibility

With a focus for doing business in a responsible and sustainable way, Geveke always tries to find a balance between people, planet and profit. Therefore Geveke takes into account the impact of its operations, products and services on the environment, both inside and outside the company. The ongoing development and innovation of products is a focus point. But Geveke also finds solutions to further enhance the sustainability of processes and provide the customer with the best possible advice. This allows the customer to implement its sustainability policy and perform and realise company objectives with the products and services of Geveke.

Improving the sustainability of one's own operations (CO₂ reduction) is also one of the key objectives. Various energy-saving measures have been implemented and business processes have been adjusted to contribute to the preservation of the environment. In this way Geveke carries out an active reduction policy to achieve improvements.

Geveke has a clear code of conduct in regard to working safely and for doing business in a conscious, responsible, fair and transparent way. These guidelines are the basis of all employees' actions.
